Newspaper proprietors generally, and especially of this sity, under the usages and regulations heretofore prevaling sty, under the usages and regulations acressive prevaling are called upon to perform more labor without remuneration, than any other class of community. The gratuitous publication of charity and religious advertisement, and communications, tributes of respect, obstuaries, &c. &c., which can only be inserted at a heavy cost to the proprietor, imposes upon them a burden so onorous, that they feel called upon, in self-defence, to check the abuse, by making such publications a charge, to some extent at least, upon the par-Lies more mmediately interested. In this they are but fol-lowing the example of the press in other cities, impelled by a sense of its intrinsic propriety, and imperative duty to themselves.
